

Change in name- Padmapada

About us

our lineage

If you ask us about the tradition which we come from and the lineage of masters behind us, we are blessed to reveal those legendary souls who had walked through this planet several times. padmapada is nothing but a wave, in the ocean of work done by many masters, lineages and sages starting from Agasthya muni, Patanjali, Swami Rama - Himalayan tradition, Vedanta - Shankaracharya, Bhakti(devotion) - Sri Rama Krishna paramahansa, Tantric teachings of Srividya, kriya yoga, Ayurveda and other alternate healing systems.

Lineage

Sage Agasthya and siddha tradition

Swami Sivananda of Himalayas

Swami Rama - Himalayan lineage

Ramana Maharshi - Non dualistic teachings

Sri Vidya sampradaya

Sanskrit chants - from Vedas

Masters

1. Sage Agasthya

Agasthyar, also known as Agasthya Muni or Agasthya Rishi, was a prominent figure in ancient Indian literary and cultural tradition. He is considered one of the Greatest Rishi-s of all times. Several deeds of Agasthyar indicate the oneness of our country and enable us to understand the elements that contribute to what we now understand as modern national integration. His teachings, writings, and influence have had a lasting impact on Indian society, and have played a vital role in fostering a sense of unity and cultural continuity across the diverse regions of India; these have also shaped the cultural, philosophical, and intellectual landscape of India.

2. Swami Sivananda

Swami Sivananda (1887–1963) was one of the great yoga masters of India. In his life he pursued two careers, that of a successful physician and that of a yogi and sage. His work always centred on serving others: “Every type of work that served to heal and relieve human suffering filled me with great joy.” For him, service was “love in expression”. This great sage of the twentieth century, Swami Sivananda, lives on. He lives on in his books, in his disciples, in the atmosphere of his centres and ashrams. Swami Sivananda was a prince among men, a jewel among saints. Service and love were the weapons he used to conquer the hearts of men. Swami Sivananda did not found a new religion, nor did he develop any new rules of ethics and morality. Instead, he helped the Hindu become a better Hindu, the Christian a better Christian, the Muslim a better Muslim. There was an enduring power in Swami Sivananda – in his thoughts, his words and his deeds. He was the divine power of truth, purity, love and service.

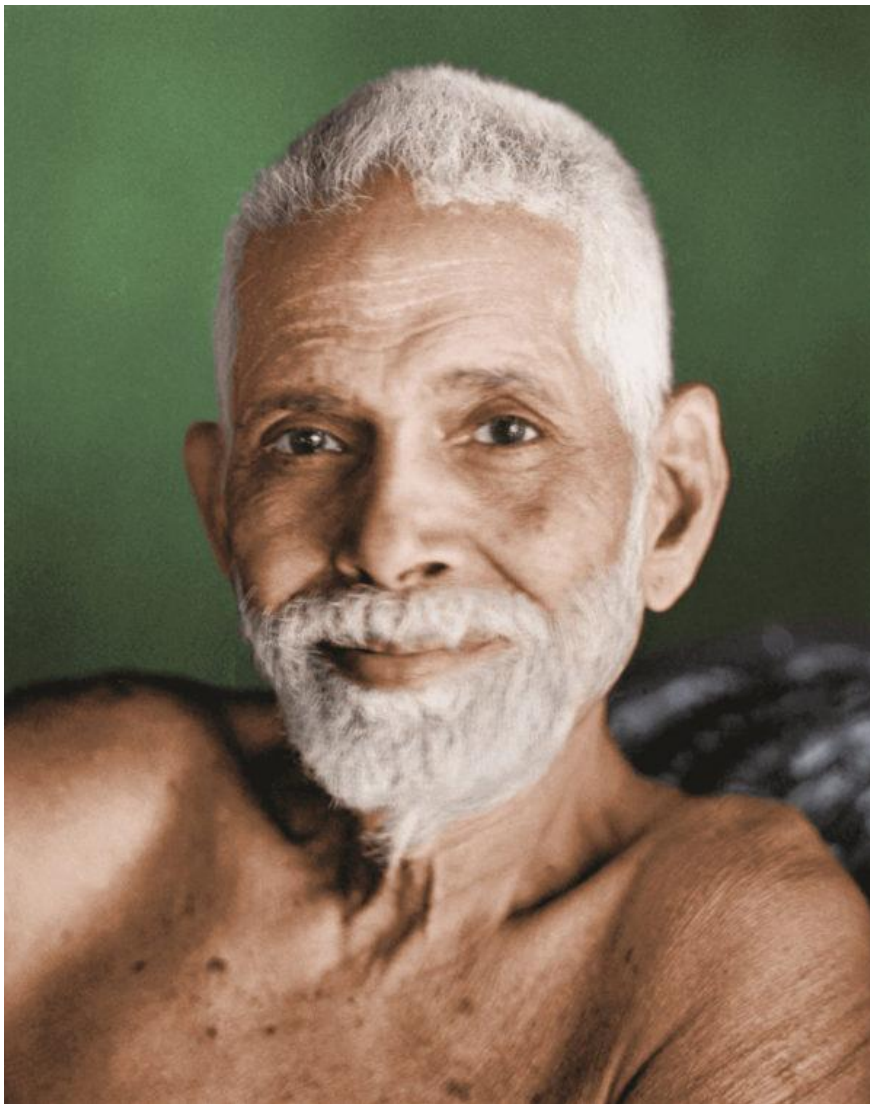

3. Swami Rama of the Himalayas

Born in 1925 in Uttar Pradesh, Swami Rama was raised from early childhood by a great yogi and saint of Bengal who lived in the foothills of the Himalayas. In his youth he practiced the various disciplines of yoga science and philosophy in the traditional monasteries of the Himalayas and studied closely with many spiritual adepts, including Mahatma Gandhi, Sri Aurobindo, and Rabindranath Tagore. He is a free thinker, guided by his direct experience and inner wisdom, and he encourages his students to do likewise. "I am a messenger, delivering the wisdom of the Himalayan sages of my tradition. My job is to introduce you to the teacher within." Swamiji's deep love for his ancient spiritual tradition is reflected in his life and work. For twenty-five years he has lectured throughout the world in monasteries, churches, universities, and medical schools. His nonsectarian and universal approach towards life and the teachings he imparts are accepted by all religious faiths and communities, making him a binding force between the East and the West.

4. Ramana Maharshi

Ramana Maharshi ("Bhagavan") was a 20th century Indian sage who continues to radiate peace and self-awareness to the global community of spiritual seekers. You do not need to join any organization, adopt any belief system, or worship anyone or anything to experience the transition of bliss and clarity. Bhagavan simply points you towards your innermost self, the unchanging reality underlying all that exists. As if your life and the world were a movie; Bhagavan's practice of asking who am I? It allows you to find true happiness by realizing that you are the screen itself , not the movie being projected.

Teachings

- Raja yoga or Ashtanga yoga - 8 limbed Royal path
- Bhakti yoga - path of devotion
- Jnana yoga - path of knowledge
- Karma yoga - path of selfless action
- Reiki system - path of healing

Vision & Mission

Here in Padmapada we try to amalgamate all the traditions of spirituality and offer to the world from the teachings we received & practiced, so that every aspect of our life is taken care by applying these principles and to have a smooth journey with right perspective about life.

We have informations, books, techniques, teachers and theories but why unable to apply it in day to day life and less transformations? , Current world is confused with changes in names given by some of the modern teachers or schools by mixing yoga with gymnastics, circus and adding surname as yoga to everything they do, like power yoga, hot yoga, face yoga, puppy yoga, aerial yoga and so on! Real Yoga has nothing to do with all these names. Yoga in action is just one, ie Ashtanga yoga, 8 limbed Royal path structured by Sage Patanjali. Sadly, Similar deviations are in place for other paths as well. We are in a mission of transforming individual lives with the science of Yoga, applied sadhana and meditations by integrating science and psychology, also to strengthen and maintain real, traditional practices without compromising its actual purpose and essence.

if you are an aspirant who wish to learn classical Yoga, meditation and other spiritual streams in its pristine purity, then you can see this as an open invitation. Let us take that Ancient baton of wisdom into modern hands. Together, let us explore, expand and explode into the inner dimensions of life.

Contact details

Sample- padmapadays@gmail.com

WhatsApp 91 7034199217

Instagram- Padmapada.ys

Address

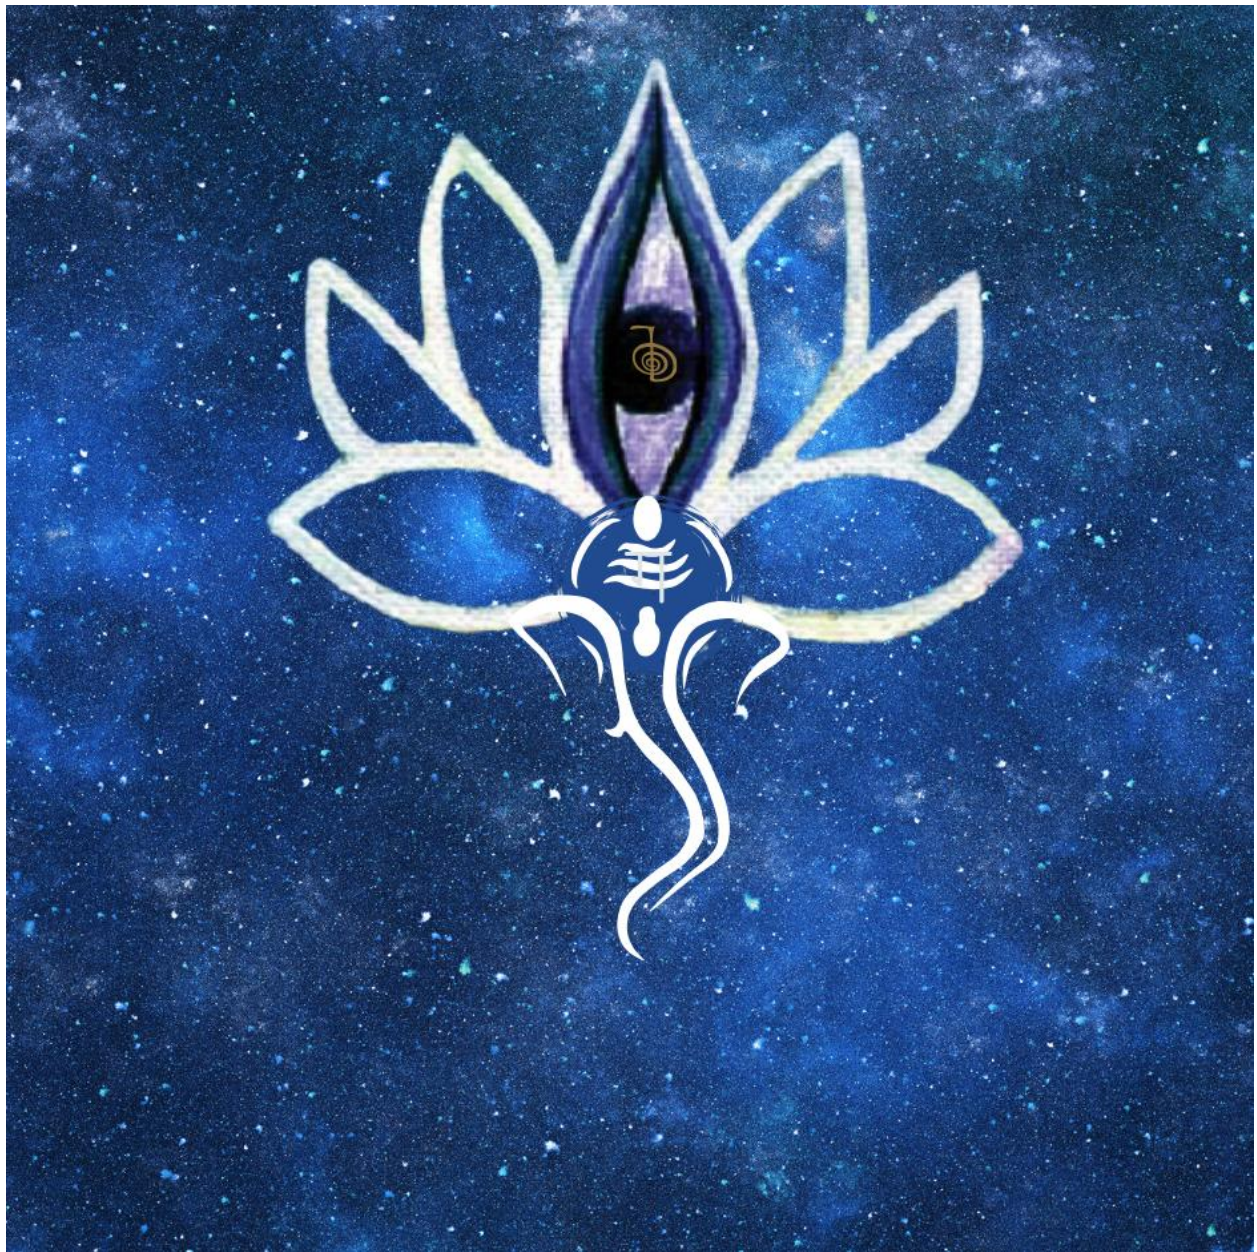

Metavalley TBI,

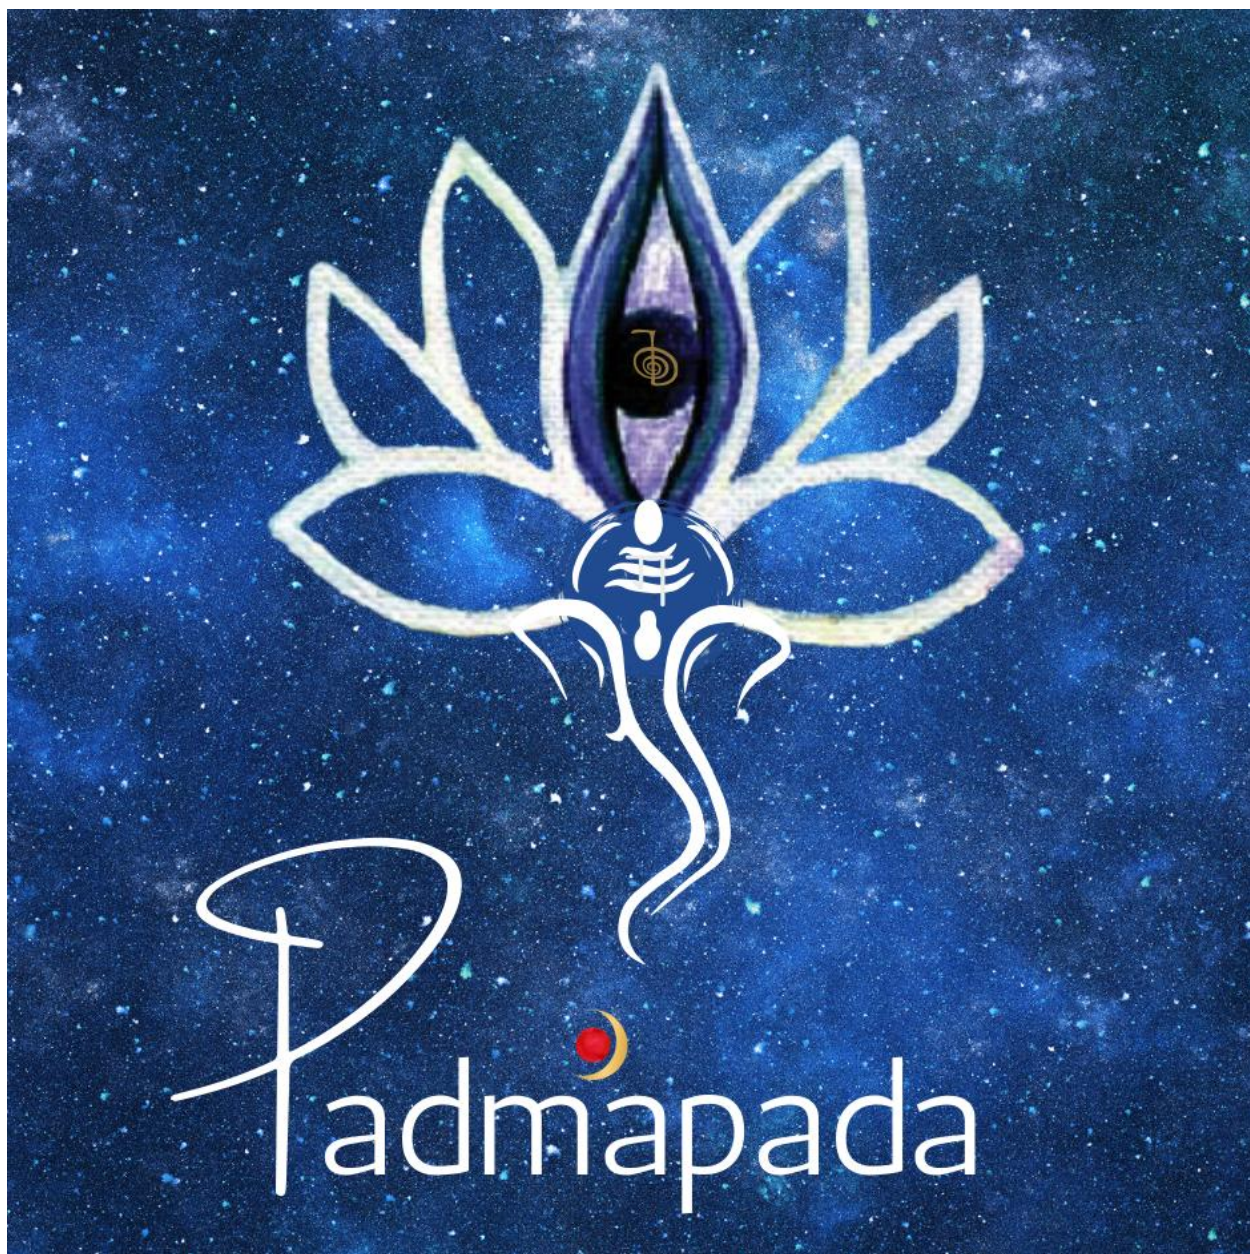

Aluva ,Cochin, Kerala

Logo & name

2nd phase

Frequently asked questions

Review for each programme
